

That is no country for old men.

*Upon the brimming water among the stones
Are nine and fifty swans.*

*I will arise and go now,
and go to Innisfree*

*All changed, changed utterly:
A terrible beauty is born.*

Celebrating W.B. Yeats' 150th Anniversary

The Wild Geese Players of Seattle present a Reading of Yeats' work

The Couth Buzzard Bookstore,
8310 Greenwood Ave N,
Seattle, WA 98103

7PM, Sunday, October 18th, 2015

www.WildGeeseSeattle.org

W.B. Yeats